

INSANE MOTHER WHO KILLED CHILD IS RELEASED BY JUDGE

Has Sufficiently Recovered
After Six-Year Lapse To Be Set Free

GOES TO VERMONT

Former Southampton Rector
Will Look After Her
Welfare

DOYLESTOWN, May 25.—Six years after she was committed to the State Hospital at Norristown after being declared insane for killing her 4-year-old son at the Sunshine Home, Davisville, on January 23, 1919, by carbolic acid poisoning, Mrs. Alice May Hallowell, was this morning paroled by Judge William C. Ryan in the Court of Quarter Sessions of Bucks County into the custody of Bishop Booth, former rector of the Southampton Episcopal Church, who is now Bishop Coadjutor of Vermont.

Mrs. Hallowell will be taken to Vermont where she will make her home in the future.

This morning, Dr. Elliott, chief of the women's department of the State Hospital, Norristown, testified that in her opinion, Mrs. Hallowell has made a remarkable recovery; that she does not have any depressing moments and that she at no time since her admittance has shown the slightest signs of a disturbed mental condition.

"In my opinion, Mrs. Hallowell has recovered sufficiently to leave the institution," Dr. Elliott continued. She is not of the type that will be dangerous if released into the custody of a family.

The application for the woman's release from the hospital was made to the Court by Reynolds Driver Brown, one of Philadelphia's most prominent attorneys, who represented Bishop Booth, of Vermont. Mrs. Hallowell formerly was a communicant of Bishop Booth's parish in Southampton, Bucks county.

Harry ("Happy") Hallowell is the boy who died of the carbolic acid poisoning in the Abington Hospital, January, 1919. Mrs. Hallowell was a witness at the coroner's inquest.

Suspicion was directed toward the mother because of acid burns on her left arm. She said she received the burns when she grasped her dying child. Three years after the child died, Mrs. Hallowell confessed to Hiram H. Keller, who was then District Attorney, the full details of the murder.

Mrs. Hallowell told the authorities that she "killed her son to prevent his growing up and participating in the terrible evils now existing in the world." In her confession she said: "I decided to do away with Harry on early morning of January 23, 1919. I took a bottle of poison out of the medicine chest which was kept in the dining room. I also got a spoon out of the sideboard drawer in the dining room and took that up to my room on the second floor. Later in the forenoon I bathed Harry and put him asleep in my room and while he was asleep I got the bottle, poured some into the spoon and forced it into Harry's mouth and throat. I took him up and carried him into the sewing room, where I placed a pillow which was put on the rug on the floor in the room. I then put on my hat and coat and went to interview a woman to make arrangements to go to work. Later I came back and when I arrived at home I saw Mrs. Genner, who had Harry on her lap. Later I went to the Abington Hospital where Harry died."

Mrs. Hallowell said that the confession was the result of worryment which had existed ever since it happened.

On the witness stand this morning Mrs. Hallowell appeared as a well woman. She told Judge Ryan, in answer to several questions that she was anxious to go to Vermont.

WEEK-END ENCAMPMENT
PLANNED FOR SEMINAR

Scout Leaders to Participate
In Outing Near Newtown,
May 26-27

OTHER SCOUT GOSSIP

The second annual encampment of the scout leaders of the Bucks County Council will take place Saturday and Sunday at Neshaminy Farms between Newtown and Richboro beginning Saturday at 4 p. m. and concluding on Sunday at the same time. The encampment will be in conjunction with the seventh meeting of the scout leaders training seminar that has been running all through the past months. All men are welcome. It is necessary that each one bring his own eating, sleeping and housing equipment. In case of rain provisions will be made for those who did not bring any housing. If it should rain Friday night or Saturday morning the encampment is to be postponed one week. Enjoy the week-end with a "bunch of real fellows." Talk to some who were with us last year.

South Langhorne, No. 1, Scoutmaster Charles Briegle, conducted an Indian Show last Thursday evening that was one of the finest educational events conducted so far this year. Chief One Star and twelve other full blooded Indians presented a two hours' program of Indian lore and pageantry that was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone present at the Casino. To add a little comedy to the show the Nelson Brothers, from Philadelphia, played their amusing part. As a reward for selling the most tickets Scout Edward Baumbier was given a beautiful Indian skin on which was the head of a chief surrounded by symbols and Indian hieroglyphics.

Of the few troops that were given special mention by the Chief Scout Executive, James E. West, during the recent annual national council meeting held at San Francisco last month two of our Bucks County Council troops were particularly commended as scout troops having done unusual "community good turns." Perkasie No. 1, Scoutmaster Claude N. Gilbert received the following mention: "100% attendance in uniform on Memorial Day. Twelve dollars donated to Near East Relief. Aided Legion in carnival work. Shoveled snow from Legion pavement. Bought market baskets for needy families out of their own money. Acted as ushers and monitors at local theatre in community events. Traffic officers during the coasting season at road intersections. Distributed circulars for community projects. Attended church and Sunday School in uniform every four months. Scouts in troop received commendable mention from local fire warden for aiding in fighting

FIREMEN'S CARD PARTY WAS A HUGE SUCCESS

Affair Given by Enterprise
Volunteer Company Is Largely Attended

125 PRIZES AWARDED

Enterprise Volunteer Fire Company, No. 5, gave a card party in the hose house last evening, and the party was a big social and financial success.

The house was filled to the doors. The second floor was used for "500" and 21 tables were formed, and on the lower floor there were 30 tables of pinchle players.

Each floor had its own prizes and the larger and most valuable prizes were duplicated so that each winner had the same opportunity of selecting a prize without any partiality being shown.

There were 125 prizes given, the most attractive being four sets of acetate, soap cup and towel rack for the bath room, two floor lamps, end tables, all kinds of fancy glass dishes, vases, plants, etc.

There was a door prize awarded to Mrs. Stanley Keers of New Buckle street, which was a large cake beautifully decorated, made and donated by Mr. J. A. McGinley, of Buckley street. There were also seven non-player prizes given to Mrs. William Harrison, Mrs. Chester Beaton, Mrs. James Boyle, Miss Lillian Moore and Miss Ethel Thomas.

A few of the prize winners in "500" and pinchle were:

"500"—Mrs. Elva Hohenward, 3650; Miss Mary Dugan, 3400; Miss Bessie Brogan, 3120; Mrs. J. Ennis, 3120; Miss Katherine Dugan, 3120; Miss Ellen Gilkeson, 3120; Mrs. Monroe Shipp, 3020; Mrs. S. W. Black, 3020; Mrs. J. A. McGinley, 2920; Mrs. Patterson, 2890; Mrs. Harry Goldman.

IMPRINT OF RED MAN IS PLAINLY SEEN IN THE ROMANCE OF THE DELAWARE

Mrs. Emil Metzger Gives Splendid Background for Other Sketches Regarding the Famous and Lordly River

In introducing the program "Romance of the Delaware" at a session of the Doylestown Nature Club a short time ago, Mrs. Emil Metzger, of Bristol, gave a most interesting background for the numerous papers that followed.

The main subject, divided into various themes, was presented by members of the Bristol Travel Club. Mrs. Metzger commenced by telling that her subject was an introductory sketch of the Delaware. "It is divided, as it were, into three sections—a geographical outline, and the historical facts as touched by the finger of romance of the Redman and the White-man. It is merely a background for the papers that follow."

The paper follows:

The quotation for today's program, "For men may come and men may go, but I go on forever," is the lay of not only the Delaware but of all streams. B. stolians and many Bucks Countians are so intimately associated with this historic old river, that its beauty and romance are ever before them.

The Delaware derives its name from Lord de La Warre, an Englishman, who entered the bay which now bears his name in 1610. Is it not rightly called the lordly Delaware?

The Delaware rises on the west slope of the Catskills, (the old hunting ground of the Mohawks) flows in a southerly direction for 350 miles, emptying into a bay of the same name.

Its upper course is the scenery of exquisite beauty. Its passage thru a cleft in the Blue Ridge—or Kittatinny, as the Indians called these mountains, and which meant in their language Endless Hills—gives rise to the expressive title of "The Delaware Water Gap."

Here the river skirts hills, wooded banks, forests and mountains thru a region of picturesque and romantic grandeur.

It is a swift flowing stream until it reaches Trenton. After leaving there, it becomes a broad, slow moving river. The main tributaries are the Lehigh and Schuylkill.

Colonial history, always an absorbing study, plays an important part in our subject.

It is essential that we review something about the people whom the white man found on the Delaware.

The Red man is, in many respects, the noblest, as well as the most romantic primitive man who ever stepped upon the stage of human history.

When the first Europeans came on the Delaware, they found the land occupied by the Algonquin tribes of Indians.

The "Lenni Lenape" or "Delawares" as the English called them, were settled on the banks of this river. The Indians called it the "Great River."

This tribe was ruled by a great and good chief, the famous Tammany.

He was revered by the Lenapes almost like a deity. Old and young went to him for council. He never had his equal among them. He is supposed to have been one of those who made the famous treaty with William Penn.

Tammany was termed by his admirers the patron saint of America.

And while Patrick Henry said, many years later, in the Colonial days, "Give me liberty—or give me death," Tammany said in that early period, "I love liberty more than life."

One summer afternoon as the sun was setting Tammany sent for his nephew, Lone Arrow, a young brave, and told him he was to carry a message to the Mohawks, who dwelt near the source of the "Great River."

A strong tribe of hostile Indians to the west, was on the war path and Tammany wished the Mohawks' help.

Next morn at break of day, "Lone Arrow" pushed his bark canoe into the Great River and paddled silently up stream, under low over-hanging boughs of great trees.

Suddenly there broke on the stillness of the air, the beautiful voice of "Silver Water," a lovely Indian maiden, the sweetheart of Lone Arrow. And as he glided out of sight her love call followed him.

"(The Indian Love Call) from Rose Marie was given at this time."

Truly the Indian is a figure of mystery, romance and vanishment.

It is impossible to tell what race of white men first trod the shores of the Great River.

If the Norsemen explored it in the 11th Century, they left behind them no records of their discoveries.

Various Spanish and French explorers may have passed this bay, but there is no authority upon which to base such statements.

To Henry Hudson, an Englishman in the service of the Dutch East India Co., belongs the honor of having

CASEYS' SPURT IN 4TH
DEFEATS A. O. H., 6 TO 4

Battle Was A See-Saw Affair
From the Start to the Finish

RODGERS WAS ON PEAK

Schedule for Tonight
Independents vs. Field Club
St. Ann's Field—6:45 p. m.

By T. M. Juno

By a grand uprising in the fourth inning, the Caseys scored three runs which enabled them to beat A. O. H. 6 to 4, last night.

The game, played before the smallest crowd of the season, was a see-saw battle. First, A. O. H. took the lead, and then the Caseys tied it. A. O. H. again took the lead but the Caseys came back strong and won the game on a hit batsman, an error, a forced play, a single and a walk.

"Lefty" Rodgers was on the peak for "Jim" Sackville's boys and though errors put him in "hot water" several times, he managed to tighten up in the pinches. He appeared a bit wild, issuing five passes.

"Reds" Lawler was Rodgers' opponent for the Hibbes. He was hit hard in the pinches and good support saved him a number of times.

Joe Riola and John Elmer umpired the game and on many close plays on the bases, the decision given proved satisfactory.

A. O. H. took a two-run lead in the opening inning. Thompson hit to McCarty and went out at first. F. Dougherty received a base on balls. Lyden forced Dougherty and Margerum walked. Holden hit to McGee, who errored, scoring Lyden. McGinley singled filling the bags but Kervick fanned.

Caseys opened their inning with a run. Connors singled, E. McDevitt struck out. Connors stole second and scored when F. Dougherty made a mess of D. Rodgers' grounder. D. Rodgers was caught off first and tagged out J. Dougherty to Lyden. Barrett hit to Lawler and was retired.

A. O. H. filled the bases in the second but failed to score. After J. Dougherty went out at first, Lawler got a one-base blow. Thompson was passed. F. Dougherty fanned. Lyden walked, filling the sacks, but Margerum struck out.

One run by the Caseys evaded things in the second. McCarty singled. McIlvaine walked and Sackville singled scoring McCarty. McGee's fly was handled by Lawler. J. Rodgers tied to Dougherty who threw to Lyden, catching Sackville and making it a double-play.

A. O. H. quickly forged into a two-run lead in their third. McCafferty, who had relieved Holden was safe on Sackville's error. McGinley hit over second for a clean single. D. Rodgers to Sackville put Kervick out. J. Dougherty struck out but Lawler got a hit, scoring McCafferty. Thompson was safe on J. Rodgers' error, counting McGinley. Thompson tried to steal and was put out, Connors to J. Rodgers. Caseys hung up another run in the third. Connors, E. McDevitt and D. Rodgers singled. The last hit scored Connor. Barrett got on base by a pass, filling the bags. McCarty fled to Margerum, McIlvaine breezed and Sackville forced Barrett at second.

The Hibbernians were shut out in the fourth. F. Dougherty went out at first, McCarty to Sackville. Lyden hit in front of the plate and was thrown out by Connors. Margerum and McCafferty got free tickets to first but McGinley's line drive went into McIlvaine's waiting hands.

The game was clinched in the Caseys' fourth, after McGee had fanned. Lawler hit J. Rodgers with a pitched ball. Connors hit to F. Dougherty.

GIRL IMPERSONATOR
SENT TO REFORM
SCHOOL BY JUDGE

Wm. F. Merlinger, Arrested
At Eddington, Given Trial

TOOK EMPLOYER'S CASH

Youth Fails to Explain His Actions to Court's Satisfaction

PHILADELPHIA, May 25—(INS)—How a good-looking youth masqueraded as a flapper after he misappropriated $525 of his employer's funds was revealed in common pleas court when Judge Harry S. McDevitt sentenced William F. Merlinger, 17, N. Potter street, to the Huntingdon reformatory.

Merlinger was arrested a few days ago on Distillery Lane, Eddington, dressed as a girl in an automobile. He had been arrested before approximately a year ago for posing as a coquettish flapper on Kensington avenue. He had his eyes mascaraed, face rouged and used lipstick. He sought a job on the stage in vain.

Mare Billet, an attorney, Land Title building, took an interest in Merlinger and offered to employ him if released and make a "man" out of him. Last May 9 Merlinger vanished. So did money from his benefactor's safe. Police searched vainly.

Ten days later Officer H. Lincoln Hughes, Bensalem Township, found Merlinger asleep in an auto which he had purchased in Atlantic City for $75. The "pretty girl" possessed a mannish voice when aroused suddenly, but after that it reverted to a feminine pitch. The officer, suspicious, grilled the "flapper," who then admitted being a boy.

Merlinger, it was shown, was again seized with the ambition to adorn the footlights and had gone to New York after taking the money. He masqueraded as a girl and sought a chorine's job in a musical comedy. He became acquainted with a chorus girl and they took a room together. They were roommates for two days, it was explained, and then Merlinger departed for the seashore, leaving the girl under the impression he was a female.

The youth could not explain his breach of faith, his masquerading or his desire for a stage career. However, he pleaded guilty to the theft charge. Billet suggested a mental examination. Judge Harry S. McDevitt ruled against it and sent him to the reformatory, from which he will be paroled when his behavior warrants it after he serves a minimum sentence of 14 months. He will be under parole until 25 years of age if released.

Mrs. Silas Foster Surprised
On Birthday Anniversary

A number of friends of Mrs. Silas Foster, of Brown street, Tullytown, gathered at her home in honor of her birthday. The affair was a complete surprise to Mrs. Foster and was enjoyed by all. The evening was spent in a general social way, many games being played. After the social time refreshments were served, and at a late hour the guests departed for their homes. Mrs. Foster was the recipient of many beautiful gifts.

Among those present were: Mr. Warren Lewis, Mrs. Ariss, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lewis and daughter, Eveline, and son, Russell, of Warrington; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Johnson and sons, Russell, and Earl, daughter, Lillian, of Bristol; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Steber, of Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. George Baker, Miss Rose Baker and Henry Baker, of Oxford Valley; Miss Myrtle Titus, Alfred Roberts, Wilbur Johnson, Edward Johnson, of near Morrisville.

Mr. and Mrs. William Baker, Mr. and Mrs. John Cavin, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cavin and daughter, Lulu, and son, Morris, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker and sons, Warren and Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lodge and daughter, Harriet, Miss Ethel Roberts, Miss Elsie Abrams, Miss Edith Reed, John Chase, Ralph Roberts, Frank Reed, Winifred Reed, Miss Lillian Foster and Mr. and Mrs. Silas Foster, of Tullytown.

HULMEVILLE

Those who attend the party at the Methodist Church on Saturday evening will form "Yale," "Harvard" and "Penn" groups which will vie for honors in a most interesting meet. The events will be novel and entertaining, and the cheer-leaders will furnish their bit. A small admission charge will be made, and refreshments will be served.

INGRATEFUL DEBTORS

The primary concern of several European debtor nations at the present time is the invention of some method by which the United States can be made to pay the money which they owe. France aimed a blow at American exports in an effort to obtain more favorable terms for her goods entering the United States. England tried the same thing, and there are signs that other nations may engage in this form of economic warfare against us.

The dominating theory of this offensive movement is that the debtor nations can only pay their obligations by increasing their markets here; that only by shifting the balance of trade can the obligations incurred during and since the war be settled.

Facts do not support the argument so speciously advanced. According to figures readily available, there is no necessity for the creation of an "unfavorable" balance in America's international trade, even for the reason advanced—to enable Europe to pay what it owes.

The preservation of American industry, the continuance of prosperity and the maintenance of the standard of living would be reasons enough to resist any such program, but as matters stand now the United States is contributing to the wealth of foreign countries within 5 per cent of the amount needed to pay the interest upon government and private loans, and to cover the balance of trade now in favor of the United States.

With the existing tariff and continued American prosperity Europe can continue to enjoy the benefits of gold spent by tourists and have in addition an opportunity to increase its exports to the United States, an advantage that has been aided rather than hampered by the abundance of money here.

SELLING TO SOUTH AMERICA

The state of the relations between the United States and its neighbors in Central and South America has been gloomily regarded by many pessimists of late. It has been charged that the Washington government is losing ground, and that the nations to the South are turning to other quarters for their contacts and with their trade. Even if there was some foundation for these charges it is difficult to see how the government could be responsible for trade losses.

The figures do not substantiate such croaking. Statistics gathered by the National Foreign Trade Council show rather that improvement has been marked in the trade between the United States and Latin America for the last decade, and that the curve is still pointed up.

Commerce between the United States and Central and South America is now on a billion-dollar basis annually. Before the war the average annual sales amounted to only $300,000,000. It was only during the World War that Latin American countries turned to the United States, and they have gone back to their former ties.

And to think that Lindbergh's father was a mere Congressman!

The hard thing about making money last is making it first.

Love makes the world go round the bend and park in a lane.

You know how you feel toward the human race? Well, that's about the way it feels toward you.

Dolores Costello in "OLD SAN FRANCISCO" is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
The ranch of Don Hernandez Vasquez and his beautiful granddaughter Dolores is coveted by Buckwell, a young man from San Francisco. Buckwell, a young man from San Francisco, can't make Vasquez sell. Buckwell's nephew, Terry, loves Dolores. Buckwell plans to win Vasquez's land grant. Terry learns Vasquez and offers aid. Vasquez spurns him and says that Dolores must marry young Spaniard. Heartbroken, Terry tries to forget her by wild night along Barbary Coast. Dolores seeks Terry's aid in saving ranch, but returns home disillusioned by finding him on drunken party. Buckwell witnesses her visit and, intrigued, goes to Vasquez ranch. Under guise of aiding, he lures Dolores to San Francisco.

CHAPTER X—Continued
"We will stop at the Crystal Palace and enjoy a cup of tea before transacting our business. It is one of the more respectable haunts along the Cocktail Route and—I think you will find it more interesting than the Poodle Dog." He smiled directly at her.
Dolores turned crimson in confusion. "I have read about all of them," she lied uneasily, "but do not really know about any of the town cafes—you forget that I said I have never been to San Francisco." She spoke haughtily.
"My mistake—" apologized Buckwell and began talking of other things. He wisely felt it would not be well to antagonize her so early in the game. "Perhaps I will have to be careful," he thought. "She is crafty for one so young."

Her struggles were futile.

When they entered the tea room Dolores was reminded of story book decorations of an Oriental Palace. The mammoth crystal chandeliers, from which it probably derived its name, sparkled with lights even in the day time. The rotunda was a spacious circular hallway reached from wide heavily carpeted stairs. The curving walls of the unusual room were hung with lustrous draperies that concealed a maze of doors leading into public and private rooms of various descriptions.

This was all Dolores saw until half way up the stairs, then a gallery of nude pictures met her gaze. They were hung on a level with the eyes between the draped doorways.

"Oh!" she gasped in startled mortification and stood still. It was a shock to know that such pictures existed. She wanted to run down the stairs and back to the peaceful dignity of the rancho. But as she turned her eyes met the suave, leering countenance of the Captain of waiters.

"Right this way, Miss," he said and pushing past led the way toward a curtained recess.

Buckwell and other afternoon frequenters of the place were coming up the stairs. The rotunda was gay with strollers and Dolores detected that she had better close her eyes to the paintings and go on. She proceeded up the stairs but could not ignore them. A life sized portrait of a nude woman hung in its gilt frame beside the door they were to enter. Uncomfortable beyond description Dolores bowed her head as Buckwell smilingly ushered her into the handsomely appointed private room. She drew a sigh of relief—there were no objectionable pictures. It resembled an attractive apartment. There was a small dining table, chairs, a buffet, couch and fireplace in which glowed a well packed bed of coals.

Still uneasy Dolores walked to the fireplace while Buckwell gave his orders to the waiter in an undertone. She started nervously as she saw the waiter's clerk. The waiter had departed and Buckwell was coming toward her.

"Would you like to remove your wrap?" he inquired solicitously. "The room is warm," and without waiting for her consent, he lifted the shawl from her shoulders.

forest fire. Held two fathers' nights, one inside celebration with stunts and one outside celebration with contests and games with scout executive present. Both fathers' nights proved more than successful. For "Troops Doing Outstanding Work for the Public Schools," Boylston No. 1, Scoutmaster, E. J. Calver, received the following mention: "A School Scout Patrol on duty every school day."

Troops throughout our county are doing similar "Good Turns," and we are interested in what their annual troop charter applications will contain for the present year. We hope that more of our troops will secure national recognition. Only about three of the 612 councils had two of their troops mentioned which establishes a record our council hopes to maintain.

The latest arrangements made with the Willow Grove Park management for our "Funoree" to be held at their Park, Wednesday afternoon, June 27th, included free rides on a number of amusements and a "Funoree Variety Meet" which promised to be of more than the usual amount of fun. Troop committeemen should start arranging for the transportation of the scouts of their troops to Willow Grove.

On Tuesday evening, May 29th, at 8 p. m. the eighth meeting of the Bucks County Scout Leaders' Seminar will be held at the Bucks County Country Club, Langhorne. Special demonstrations and talks are to be given. The calibre of meeting as has been running all this spring has been arranged.

discovered the Delaware Bay in 1609.

In 1623 the Dutch erected Ft. Nassau (near the present site of Gloucester Point).

Historians claim this was the first attempted settlement by any European on the Delaware River.

The Swedes arrived on the Delaware in 1638. They built Ft. Christina at the mouth of the Brandywine.

In the early spring of 1641 the English made their first attempts to make a settlement on the Delaware. They made purchase of land from the Indians on both sides of the Great River and commenced settlement at Salem, N. J., and near the mouth of the Schuylkill. The early Swedish and Dutch writers of this period called the Delaware the "South River."

Motorists To Drive To Gettysburg, May 30

March for the parade and will be closed to parking.

However, all other streets and roads in the town will be thrown open for the storage of cars or one vehicle. The cemetery is within easy walking distance from the town.

From Bristol take the Bristol Pike and follow the route, then the Lincoln Highway over City Line and turn right on Lancaster Pike and pass through Padi, Exton, Downingtown, Coatesville, Lancaster and York, to Gettysburg.

Gettysburg is ideally situated for the approach of motorists. The Lincoln Highway runs directly through the heart of the town, offering good roads to motorists from the west and east. Motorists from Chicago, South Bend, Fort Wayne and Pittsburgh are advised to use this route, while from the east, the Lincoln Highway leads from New York, Trenton, and Philadelphia.

The National Old Trail, from San Francisco, can be used by motorists from Kansas City, Indianapolis, St. Louis and Columbus, to Hagerstown. From Hagerstown, take the Hagerstown Road to Gettysburg. The Valley Pike, which runs through the Shenandoah Valley, admits motorists from Chattanooga, Roanoke, Knoxville and Staunton. This pike also leads to Hagerstown.

The Carlisle Road, from Carlisle, Pa., furnishes direct access to north Pennsylvanians and the Harrisburg road is an air line route.

From Washington drive northwest through Rockville, Frederick and Emmitsburg to Gettysburg. From Baltimore take the Reisterstown—Westminster Road to Gettysburg.

Traffic conditions in the vicinity of Gettysburg will be ably handled by a special force of State Highway patrol men, augmented by members of the Keystone Automobile Club Patrol, detailed for the occasion. There will be a special army escort for President Coolidge while the National Guard and Civil War veterans will parade to the Battlefield Cemetery.

Governor Fisher will preside, while Congressman Franklin Menges will introduce the President, who will begin his address at 2:00 p. m., eastern standard time.

Large Crowd Enjoys Attending Radio Party

A very successful radio party was given by the Ladies' Auxiliary of America Hose, Hook and Ladder Co. No. 2 in the hose house on Tuesday evening.

About 125 people attended this party.

The game played is similar to the game of "Patto" and as each winner of a game selected a prize. Some of the most valuable prizes were won by: Evelyn Force, who received a beautiful pair of silk pajamas; William Van Selver, a large rubber apron; Mrs. Clifford Appleton, a large table cover; Mrs. Mary Griffith, a marzipan race; Mrs. Van Selver, a glass lemonade set, etc.

A social time was also enjoyed and refreshments of punch and crackers were served during the evening.

Mr. John Fry, of Philadelphia, furnished the radio game for this occasion.

The ladies of the auxiliary wish to thank all who helped in any way to make this a successful party.

Odd Fellows Are To Meet At Jamison on Monday

Members of I. O. O. F., Eastern District, will assemble at Warrington Lodge, No. 447, Jamison, on Monday evening, May 28th. It will be the second meeting of the Lodge year and it will be held at the lodge of the District Deputy Grand Master.

The membership drive being conducted by Hopkins Lodge of Bristol will end September 30th. All new candidates initiated by that date will be counted for the member submitting the name. Individual prizes will be awarded.

BRISTOL Headquarters

Avoid the rush—COME today!

WE'VE just received a new shipment of the famous Atwater Kent A. C. sets. We ordered them to take care of the huge demand from people who are going to follow the political campaign by radio.

Both national conventions go on the air in June. The wise thing to do—if you want to be sure of hearing everything—is to get your Atwater Kent 37 today!

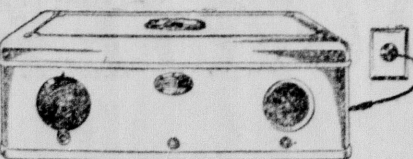

Our telling you about the way the compact case shields this set, about the double shielding of the built-in power supply, or about the accuracy with which the set is made, and the 222 tests or inspections that assure its dependability, will not give you any idea of

Model 37, Six-tube, Full-vision Dial, self-contained A. C. set. For use with 110-115 volt, 60 cycle, Alternating Current. Uses six A. C. amplifying tubes, and one rectifying tube.

how wonderfully well this Model 37 works. Come in and listen to it. Work it yourself. Notice how quickly and clearly stations can be selected with the Full-vision Dial; how eagerly the set responds every time you snap the switch on the panel and send the current through the A. C. tubes. The current is the same that lights your home (there are no batteries) and costs you only a fraction of a cent an hour for entertainment that costs millions to put on the air. Can you afford to be without this modern, perfected radio any longer, especially at this low price?

CONVENIENT TERMS, TOO

Model 33, without tubes, $125

An extra powerful A. C. set of particular value where distance getting or maximum daylight reception is essential or an inside antenna is necessary. Beautiful tone quality. Generous volume. Unusual selectivity. Uses seven A. C. tubes and one rectifying tube.

ANOTHER LITTLE MESSAGE

about that cup of sugar

RECENTLY we suggested that the essentials of the true spirit of neighborliness were exemplified in the borrowing of a cup of sugar.

Over the back-yard fence is a short cut indeed, to neighborliness. Miles so often are the fences that divide the common ground of mutual understanding and good will. The less the distance, the lower the fence.

That's one reason why we've always worked so earnestly and faithfully for better roads. The road that brings you nearer the Merchants of Bristol is the same broad highway that brings the Merchants nearer to you. Literally and figuratively it increases efficiency in the delivery of the goods. Another essential to the true spirit of neighborliness.

You'll find the same spirit at that end of the road---in Bristol stores and places of business. Courtesy, desire to please, eagerness to rectify error, sincerity in quality, fairness in price---these are the elements of neighborly dealing which Bristol Merchants are constantly striving to improve.

Just call across the fence. You're neighbors, you know.

Caseys' Spurt in 4th Defeats A. O. H., 6 to 4

erty who errored J. Rodger could not stop after he had reached second so continued to third. F. Dougherty threw wild to Margerum in trying to catch J. Rodger and he scored. Connors reached third. E. McDevitt hit to Lawler, who threw home to catch Connors but failed, McDevitt going to second. When J. Dougherty threw wild to second McDevitt went to third and scored on D. Rodgers hit. Barrett walked for the second time. McCarray fanned and Melvaine's fly was taken in by McClafferty.

Poor base running caused the A. O. H. a few runs in their final turn. Kervick singled. J. Dougherty also singled. Kervick was caught off second and tagged by McGee. J. Dougherty got caught off first and after a run-down was tagged by McCarray. Lawler watched a third strike whiz by.

STOCK CAR RACES TO BE HELD AT ATLANTIC CITY

The day of stock car racing is coming. With smaller bores and higher compressions, the cars that are driven by the families of America are being invested with more and more speed, more and more mileage, and many of them are close to the speed of the less efficient special jobs right now.

And for this reason, Dave Lodge, promoter of the racing at the Atlantic City speedway this year, added several stock car events to his opening program, scheduled for May 30th, or Recreation Day. It is popularly termed.

Along with racing by such veterans as the track as Ralph De Palma, holder of more records almost that he can remember, knight of board driving as well as the more dangerous going on the dirt tracks, and Freddie Winnall, who is said to have the heaviest foot in modern motordom, will be amateur drivers, chaps who have dreamed of giving their own personal buggies the gun right down to the limit, who seize upon such limited opportunities as modern traffic offers to "let her out" with more than mere pride of ownership urging them on.

These are the drivers who have never found their niche in life, the daredevils whom necessity or accident has sent into the prosaic industries and businesses of life.

But they will have their little day at Atlantic City, that vast tureen of wooden danger that squats froglike in the sun of the Jersey pine scrub off the White Horse Pike, about twenty miles this way from Atlantic City.

They will get a chance to show their stuff alongside of men whose names mean something in the racing world. There will be at least three of these stock car races, some for pro drivers and others for the amateurs, and one will be for two makes of popular light cars,—you can guess which two—entered by strictly private owners.

Then there will be the motorcycle races, the first herabouts on a large scale since the days of Point Breeze, and the combination events, in which the entries will be so near death and destruction that the thrashing of the angels' wings will almost drown out the moaning of their motors.

Rides the Big Winner

Here is Chick Lang, veteran jockey, who rode Reigh Count, carrying the silks of Mrs. Herz to victory in the classic Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, Kentucky. More than 100,000 race fans braved the rain to see the favorite run true to form in spite of the mud.

(International Newsreel)

Catch a motor car giving a cyclist the edge on the turn. Catch a cyclist refusing to take advantage of the smallness of his steed, its flexibility, even if a split second is all that spells the difference between advantage and a smashup. Catch any of them refusing a risk with pride at stake and reputations at stake any money at stake, for the prizes will be money prizes as well as the cups that go to cheer the hearts of the simon pures.

All of this will be topped off by airplane specialties and one race with airplanes entered. Reckless Johnson—the bird who walks third rails—and Reckless Ruby, who will flirt with any tired business man when dangling a thousand feet from earth by one foot hooked around a trapeze, if any busi-
